The Energy Efficiency Directive must do more to support the utilisation of unavoidable excess heat from industry.

Waste heat-to-power for self-consumption can save several TWh/y electricity in the EU if it is eligible for public support.

Amendments are needed to EED to ensure that the conversion of waste heat to power for self-consumption can be eligible for support.